MAASAI MARA

TOURS

- Morning departure after breakfast for a full-day game drive
- Abundant birdwatching with hundreds of colourful species soaring overhead
- Picnic lunch inside the park while enjoying the breathtaking golden grasslands and scenery

DID YOU KNOW?

- Maasai Mara is not a National Park — it's a National Reserve owned by the Maasai people themselves.
- The Maasai believe they are part of the land, not just residents — that's why they almost never hunt and live in harmony with wildlife.
- More than 250,000 wildebeest die every year during the river crossings — their bodies actually feed the entire ecosystem for months.

TOURS

- Optional visit to a traditional Cultural Maasai Village – meet the Maasai people, learn their rich culture, watch traditional dances, and enjoy a warm local interaction
- Relax at your lodge until check-out time
- Scenic drive back to Nairobi with a relaxing lunch stop en route

OFFICIAL END OF YOUR UNFORGETTABLE MAASAI MARA SAFARI!

DID YOU KNOW?

- The name “Mara” means “spotted” in the Maasai language — because from a distance the landscape looks speckled with acacia trees and cloud shadows.
- The maasai people drink fresh cow blood — During ceremonies, after circumcision, or when someone is sick, Maasai warriors drink warm blood straight from the vein of a living cow. It’s considered a sacred superfood that gives strength and courage.
